

We don't need eager loading anymore and the Application still works with lazy loading because of `@Transactional` annotation

With `@Transactional`, we can safely use lazy loading because the database session is open long enough.

Lazy loading is faster and lighter, because it only loads what's needed.